7 little known benefits of Transactional Liability Insurance

When you sell all or part of a business, you're personally liable for breaches of warranties in the sale agreement, resulting from accidental misrepresentation, or for breaches of the tax covenant. The good news? Mergers and acquisitions insurance is now available for small business transactions between £250k and £20 million. It's called transactional liability insurance.

You can be covered for up to 100% of the sale value*

Transactional liability insurance can provide cover of up to £20 million.

You can get an indication of costs in 2 working days

Based on an application form, sale documents and your data room index.

It's a one-off premium

SME mergers & acquisitions insurance lasts for 7 years and you pay once.

It's available for sales as low as £250k

And premiums start from under £4,000.

You can take out a policy after you've sold

Take out SME mergers and acquisitions insurance shortly after the sale.

Cover is available for sellers AND buyers

Buyers can also take out a separate Fraud and Negligent Misrepresentation policy.

Reassurance for your buyer

You can add your buyer to your policy as a 'loss payee'.

Peace of mind for 7 years

Cover for personal liabilities arising from accidental misrepresentation in warranties or tax covenants, helping provide reassurance to buyers.

James Bishop
james.bishop@macbeths.co.uk

John Goodson
john.goodson@macbeths.co.uk

Macbeth

*lower limits are available. as long as there hasn't been a claim.